Applications

Introducing our Fibre Splice Rack Panel, the ultimate solution for seamless connectivity! They provide a secure and organised platform for fibre optical splicing.
They have numerous applications in modern telecommunication and data transmission networks. These racks can be used to organise and distribute fibre optical cables and serve as a centralised point for managing the connections, they provide a secure environment for joining two fibre optical cables together, ensuring a low-loss and reliable connection. Our racks are essential for FTTH networks, data centres, and outdoor enclosures, providing efficient data transmission of high speed internet, TV, and phone services.
